On the 25th May 2018 a new Data Protection Act becomes Legal which is the General Data Protection Regulation Act or GDPR. This Act was implemented by the European Parliament, Council of the European Union, The European Commission and Information Commissioner's Office and will become Law even when the UK leaves the EU.

The recent changes mean we must now have permission to hold any Data relating to our clients.

We would like to continue to keep in touch with you.

As current or past customers the only information that we keep is your name, the business name and address, telephone numbers, email address and past transactions including copy invoices and Bacs remittance advices.

This is information that is either in the public domain or that you have given to us in the course of conducting business with us.

We do not pass this information to 3rd parties unless given permission to do so.

All information we hold will be used exclusively in connection with Jackson Plating Limited's Business, until such time we receive a request for the deletion of that information.

Of course, you get to decide should you like to opt-out of any future communications with Jackson Plating and we will delete all of the personal information we hold on you.

If you do not wish any information to be held, please email sales@jacksonplating.co.uk

Stating you request all your information to be removed from our files along with your name position and company name.

We hope this will not be too much of an inconvenience.

Yours sincerely

Martin Jackson
Director
